Managed Access

“Sonitrol’s managed access control solution allows us to monitor who is coming in and out of our properties, and the ability to simply go online to administer permission levels means we don’t have to re-key every time someone leaves”

Is your business as safe as it should be?

It could be

The Sonitrol Managed Access Control system allows you to track and limit entry to buildings and sensitive areas of your business, providing protection for valuable information and data, and a safer work environment for employees. No more lost keys. No more expense of installing new locks or re-keying. When an employee leaves, or is reassigned, the card is easily deactivated. If needed, a new, updated card can be issued.

Integrated security from one source

The Sonitrol Managed Access Control system is seamlessly integrated with Sonitrol’s Audio detection system so you can activate your building’s security system with a programmed key card. No more complicated codes and procedures. Once activated, our audio detection system is on duty 24/7, protecting your facility from any point of entry – not just doors and windows.

Sonitrol Managed Access Control and Audio Detection systems are easy to use. Just one keypad does it all.

Managed Access Control

You know what's at risk.

When it comes to security and safety, people in business today have more than burglars on their minds. Today's workplace is vulnerable to many kinds of threats.

- Losses due to internal theft can range from $20 to $90 billion annually to upwards of $240 billion a year when accounting for losses due to intellectual property theft*
- Violence in the workplace accounted for 18% of all violent crimes between 1993 and 1999

Growing businesses and companies with less than 100 employees are the most vulnerable to these types of losses. You can't keep everyone and everything locked up. But you can give yourself easy-to-manage, effective security with the Sonitrol Managed Access Control system.

Intelligent security

The Sonitrol Managed Access Control system can be programmed to interact with other modules of your Sonitrol security system. Authorized individuals can use a Sonitrol Managed Access Control card to arm or disarm your building's security system. For example, Sonitrol's Intrusion Detection system can be programmed to automatically shut off when a designated employee enters your facility in the morning. Sonitrol provides easy to use solutions so you can concentrate on your business.

And with any Sonitrol system, you can count on complete, consistent, quality service from Sonitrol's trained professionals – 24 hours a day.
